3-5 Did Ruth discuss this matter
w. sh you - ? (Mary X6333)
Don't know where she learned that the subject might defect.

Mary: Re our 'phone talk, as we explained in the very beginning, the orig. source is casual and very sensitive and our source would be very reluctant to push this in any way. I think the SMABOVES should betold that the priest, even though he may have said he might if he could, because of the family he left behind, is in no position to defect. Contact between our source and the orig. source of the info is such that no initiative can be taken by our source. If his source volunteers to him any info casually, it will be passed on. Otherwise, things will have to be left as they are - from our standpoint at least.

1. The SMABOVES have commented on the report given them on Subject as follows:
The matter of BARSHCHEVSKYI being a possible defector is of interest to us. We are wondering if your source is in a position to offer further advice in this regard. Will the source be having further contacts with BARSHCHEVSKYI and if so is he the type of person whom you could ask to encourage BARSHCHEVSKYI in his desire to defect?
2. Any elaborating data you can supply will be appreciated.
